To Whom It May Concern:

I was recently informed that a tentative change in the rules may affect my ability to listen to my favorite radio station. To my knowledge there are only two Christian radio stations in my area, one forty miles up I-10 (and unfortunately always full of static) and KLOVE. I really enjoy K-LOVE's positive message. If they lose the ability to broadcast in this area all that will be left is some really raunchy radio or stations that are so right wing that they are disgusting. It is important to allow citizens to hear music and news that does not conflict with their religious beliefs.

Sincerely yours,

Margaret Sanger
